Sessions 3 & 4: Ethical Decision Making

Course Description:
This course is designed to provide an overview of ethical standards. In today's world, healthcare professionals and counselors are facing ethical dilemmas in a high technology and social media world. Additionally, this training will review counselor self-disclosure and self-disclosures in the age of the internet, privacy, security, clinical supervision and technology, and ethical reasoning. An overview of the moral concepts of goodness, right, and obligation, and the ways in which they operate in society, religion, and law. These concepts are further enhanced during the classroom discussions and group work. Learning objectives: Illustrate the development of values, define ethics, review the various codes of ethics, discuss the major ethical principals, review unprofessional conduct, list the steps of ethical decision-making, apply these concepts to the scenarios during class discussions.

Learning Objectives:
1. Define Ethics.
2. Recognize the various Codes of Ethics.
3. Summarize Major Ethical Principles.
4. Recognize and Describe Unprofessional Conduct
5. Summarize the steps of Ethical Decision-Making and how to apply the technique to various scenarios.